REALTORS OPPOSE PROPOSED MOTOR
BUS ORDINANCE

Fear Measure Will Prevent Showing Customers Over
City in Automobile

Several important matters dealing with the real estate profession were taken up for discussion yesterday at the regular weekly luncheon of the Glendale Real Estate board. The meeting was held at the Broadway Inn.

William A. Horn presided at the session in the absence of C. D. Thom, president of the organization, who was reported confined to his home with the grip.

One of the most important questions discussed concerned the ordinance drawn up by the City Council regarding motor bus regulation. It was the sense of the real estate men that were this ordinance to become a law in its present form, they would not be allowed to show prospective buyers about the city in automobiles without first taking out a license.

Seek Amendment

After some discussion it was moved that the City Council and the real estate board, be requested to amend the ordinance so that it would not work a hardship on local realtors.

Mayor Spencer Robinson, who was present, told the assemblage that the purpose of the motor bus ordinance is to keep from the streets of Glendale all "fly by night" real estate companies which solicit people to purchase oil lands, etc. He assured the gathering that City Attorney Shaw would exclude from the ordinance all writing relating to realtors established in Glendale.

The ordinance in question was drawn up by the City Council recently. It has not been adopted to date.

Another important matter taken up at the meeting concerns the establishment by the local Real Estate board of an appraising committee, or a body of members who could be called upon at any time by outside or local interests to pass on the valuation of given property.

PUBLIC ENTHUSED
OVER XMAS PARTY

Chairman Everington Says Community Affair Will Be Gala Event

Col James W. Everington, who is serving as general chairman of the community Christmas celebration Monday night, spoke most enthusiastically this morning of the affair. He said:

"The community Christmas tree celebration to be held Christmas night on the lawn of the Glendale Union High school is one of the largest community projects ever attempted in this city.

"All of Glendale is behind this wonderful project to celebrate and perpetuate the spirit of Christmas and there is no organization or institution in the city of any importance that is not taking an active part in helping to make it a big success.

"We have had splendid cooperation from everybody and the Community Service of Glendale is doing a great thing for the people of this city by promoting as one of its first series of activities this big community Christmas tree celebration."

Details Completed.

Final details of the affair were completed yesterday at meetings of the various committees.

The exchange club is to build the platform for the singers, Harry Castil, Mr. May and B. L. Cline compose the exchange club committee. Material for the platform is to be furnished by the Bentley-Schoeneman Lumber company.

Through the courtesy of the Shuck Music company a fine piano will be available for the use of the high school orchestra, which will accompany all the vocal numbers.

David Black, chairman of supporters, reported this morning that with the assistance of representatives of civic organizations under Mrs. E. S. McKee and Clifford Walcott in charge of a contingent of Boy Scouts, 700 pounds of candy was bagged yesterday.

To Erect Screens.

It is planned to have a big screen erected on one side of the platform so that stereopticon copies of the carols can be thrown on the screen Monday night by Willard Roberts.

Two members of the Tuesday afternoon club are enlisting Glendale Santa Claus as escort for the candy.

Ivan Dow has been selected to serve as ring bearer.

Navajo Needle Club
Is Given Luncheon

The Navajo Needle club was entertained with a luncheon Thursday at the home of Mrs. N. C. Fuller. Christmas decorations predominated. The table carried a centerpiece of lovely poinsettias, while holly leaves and wreaths about the roof heightened the Christmas effect.

After the delightful luncheon the afternoon was spent in needle work and social occupations.

All the members of the club were present, those besides the hostess being Mrs. Frank Overton, Mrs. J. C. Waite, Mrs. J. D. Root, Mrs. E. Bruce, Mrs. E. O. Carlisle, Mrs. Mark Carlisle and Mrs. Leslie Carlisle.

Uncle John Says--

Well, Mary has about got all her preparations made for her big Christmas celebration. We're going to have a family reunion, a dinner and Christmas tree and all. It has been lots of work for us, but, law, we've had lots of fun gettin' ready for it. We stuck to our rule and bought all our presents and everything for our Christmas dinner right here in Glendale and we're goin' to have the best too.

FIRST FATHER AND SON SESSION BY ROTARY CLUB

More Than Thirty Lads at Luncheon; Program
Wins Compliments

Yesterday noon marked the occasion of the first Rotary club "Father and Son" luncheon. In addition to thirty-three members and four visiting Rotarians, more than thirty boys were present.

A very entertaining program was presented by these young sons, relatives and friends of the members, supervised by a committee comprising John Huntley, James Newton, Rule Downing and Ed Nisde.

Valentine Hollister, who led off the program with a short introductory talk, extended a cordial welcome to the boys, stating that the club was proud to have them as its guests, and that they would represent the Rotary movement of the next generation.

Future With Them
"Rotarian principles are working wonders in the life of the nation, and throughout the world," stated Mr. Hollister, "and we must look to our sons to carry on the work we have begun. They must come to know what we are striving to do, for the future rests in their hands."

After these remarks the program was opened with a selection by the Boy Scout orchestra, entitled "Start It With a Smile," the boys in this orchestra being Arthur Barton, saxophone, Horace Brown, violin, and Dallas Kala-baugh, drums and traps. This number proved so popular that it was repeated several times, with varying words.

Following this a number of boys rendered recitations and musical selections, among them Howard Bentley, who played on the piano, and Jack Emery, who recited "Just Before Christmas."

The following saxophone and violin duet, by Wesley Kent and Howard Smith, which was very well received, an address on "The Spirit of America," by J. M. Rhoades, Jr., and a recitation called "Those Old Horizontal Pockets," by Howard Kent.

The Boy Scout band then played Rotary music and the club sang. (Continued on page 5)

S. W. V. AUXILIARY
NAMES OFFICERS

Mrs. L. Smith Is President Of Organization; Plan
Los Angeles Visit

The Women's auxiliary to the local post of Spanish War Veterans held its election of officers at the meeting in the Knights of Pythias hall last night, with the following results: Mrs. L. Smith, president; Mrs. Mary R. Hill, vice-president; Mrs. Albert C. Merrihew, junior vice-president; Mrs. Martha E. Warren, secretary; Mrs. L. Gray, treasurer; Mrs. Helen A. Mead, chaplain; Mrs. Carrie Satow, patriotic instructor; Mrs. Rose Harness, conductor; Mrs. C. L. Pike, assistant conductor, and Mrs. Ely Hall, guard.

A new member, Mrs. C. L. Pike, of Van Nuys, was initiated into the local post, there being no branch of the organization in her city. The next meeting of the post will be held with the Roosevelt auxiliary, 234 South Hill street, Los Angeles, at their invitation, the night of January 3. The Glendale comrades have also been invited. There will be initiation and a banquet.

Mayor and Party Go
To Olive Hill Home

Mayor Spencer Robinson and a group of representatives of the Glendale Community Service organization left early this afternoon for the Olive View Sanitarium and Girls' Home near San Fernando, to give a Christmas entertainment program.

Accompanying Mayor Robinson were Harry James, monologist, Wilbur Horwig, tenor; Mr. Wilbur Funk, saxophonist; Miss Kathleen Woods, dancer; Miss Dorothy Woods, pianist, and Ralph Van Hoorbeke, pianist.

Mystery Pictures
Received by Mayor

The mystery of who sent a large steel engraving of Abraham Lincoln and another large engraving of Sherman's March to the Sea to Mayor Spencer Robinson is now puzzling the city administration.

Two immense pictures, surrounded by huge frames, arrived yesterday at the city hall. They were consigned from the community in Kansas to Glendale and were carefully packed to stand the trip by freight.

The Evening News
Employees to Have
Big Turkey Dinner

Good fellowship of Christmas-tide is to be enjoyed tomorrow by the eighty employees of The Glendale Evening News, when they will be guests of Mr. Cowan, the editor and publisher, at a 12:30 o'clock Christmas dinner at the Broadway Inn on East Broadway at Glendale avenue. It is to be an affair exclusively for this newspaper's employees, and during the dinner hour The Evening News office will be locked.

In being host to The Evening News family Mr. Cowan has arranged a real holiday celebration, with a turkey dinner and an entertainment feature.

William Hersel, master of the Broadway Inn, is looking forward to receiving the newspaper folks and serving them the finest of Christmas dinners. Of course, roast turkey is to be the piece de resistance of the dinner. However, it is only one of the attractions of the holiday menu which reads:

Oyster Cocktail
Turkey Liver Canape
Celery
Essence of Fowl
Roast Turkey with Chestnut Dressing Vegetables
Broadway Inn Special Salad
Pie and Plum Pudding
Ice Cream

During the final course and the after-dinner hour Harry James, monologist, is to entertain the company with a group of his clever sketches.

The affair will be strictly informal and at 1:30 o'clock, or maybe a little later, so as to not interfere with the pie or ice cream or the program, the employees will return to this office and resume the work of issuing Glendale's home newspaper.

So, those transacting business with The Evening News tomorrow are respectfully requested to remember that the office will be closed for an hour—even the telephone system being disconnected.

H. Myers and Bride
Will Reside Here

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Grove Myers, whose marriage was an event of Saturday, December 2, 1922, at the Westlake Methodist Episcopal church, Los Angeles, have come to Glendale to reside at 1922 Virginia place.

Many Glendale friends attended their wedding. Dr. E. E. Helms of the First Methodist church of Los Angeles was the officiant.

Mrs. Myers, who was formerly Miss Elsie Mae Anderson, is known musically and socially in Glendale. She has been associated with the Thursday Afternoon club, the art club and was the first president of the Tropic W. C. T. U.

Mr. Myers, who was at one time a congressman from New Jersey, served during the world war as a captain. He is now in business in Glendale.

A. Cookman Honored
In His Profession

Alfred Cookman, of Glendale, was yesterday afternoon unanimously elected president of the Southern California Science and Mathematics association, at their meeting held in the Polytechnic high school at 2 o'clock.

Mr. Cookman, who is the son of Rev. and Mrs. W. W. Cookman of Glendale, is a teacher in the biology department of the Polytechnic high school.

After the business meeting at which the conferring of this honor took place, Mr. Cookman delivered before the Los Angeles County Teachers' institute an address, entitled, "Observation of Bird Life in Southern California," illustrated with numerous specimens.

The room was crowded with visiting teachers and the address was well received.

Skin Is Grafted on
Fred Sawyer's Face

Skin was grafted upon the face of Fred H. Sawyer, of 128 South Orange street, by Dr. H. G. Westphal this morning at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

Sawyer was badly burned about two weeks ago in an explosion near the southwest corner of Louise street and Broadway. It was reported this morning that he would be able to leave the hospital in about a week. Only one skin-grafting operation will be necessary as most of the burns are healing nicely. It is understood that Mr. Sawyer will not be badly disfigured.

American Legion to Elect New Officers

American Legion Post, No. 127, will meet tonight in its hall at 610 East Broadway and elect officers for the ensuing year.

Among the candidates for commander are Chalmers Day, Emil Frug and E. J. Sullivan.

BUDGET FOR CITY
SCHOOL SYSTEM IS DISCUSSED

Bonds Up to District Limit
Under Consideration by Citizens' Committee

The possibility of the local grammar school system being able to keep pace with Glendale's growth next year through an expenditure of $434,750 was discussed last night in the offices of the Board of Education by the Citizens' Committee of Fifteen.

The bonding capacity of the district is now approximately $450,000 and the new budget is $15,250 less.

The meeting adjourned until next Thursday night when the budget and the calling of a mass-meeting to consider a bond election will be considered.

Besides members of the school board last night's meeting was attended by the following members of the committee: W. E. Hewitt, Harold L. Adams, H. V. Henry, Peter L. Ferry, O. G. Thompson, Mrs. S. C. McKee, John L. Bolen, Mrs. O. W. Esselman, J. W. Everington and Mrs. William R. Wichert.

Mrs. R. Bancroft Entertains
Members of Thursday Afternoon Circle

The holiday spirit pervaded the atmosphere yesterday at the home of Mrs. Roy F. Bancroft, 121 West Eulalia street, which was thrown open for the entertainment of the members and friends of the Thursday Afternoon club who assembled to enjoy an elaborate Christmas program.

The rooms were decorated with holly, red carnations and Christmas greens.

The president, Mrs. W. N. Mabry, conducted a short business session. Minutes of the last meeting and also of the meeting of the directors were read by the recording secretary, Miss Eva Daniels. They stood approved.

A brief report of the Los Angeles District conference, held Wednesday in Los Angeles was given by the press chairman of the club.

Mrs. Sylvia Storer was appointed chairman of a committee to take charge of the federated club emblems.

President Gets Invitation

Announcement was also made that Mrs. Mabry had accepted an invitation to attend the Reciprocity luncheon to be given by the Hollywood Women's club, January 10. She will be accompanied by Mrs. A. L. Bancroft.

Opening numbers of the program were selections by Julius Kranz, a well known teacher and composer of violin music. The "Minuet in G" (Beethoven), followed by "At Twilight" one of his beautiful compositions, were delightfully rendered and greeted with well merited applause.

Another rare treat was a varied program of readings, with musical settings, by Miss Hazel Campbell, assisted by Mrs. Jeffrey Svendfen, soprano soloist and accompanist.

Has Exceptional Talent

Miss Campbell has developed exceptional talent in characterizations, portraying with equal cleverness and pathos in the selection from Eugene Field; the troubles of the small boys who "Hadt" said Our Prayers"; the anticipation of the prying peckaninny (in dialect), and the earnestness of the colored pastor, delivering the Christmas Sermon, (also in southern dialect).

Interspersed with the readings were a soprano solo, "Temple Bells" beautifully rendered by Miss Svendfen; Duets, "Somewhere a Voice is Calling," and "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia."

The latter numbers touched the chords of memory in the hearts of the listeners. The closing number was the "Little Star of Bethlehem," sung in duet.

During the social hour, refreshments of sandwiches, tea, fruit cake and coffee were served by Mrs. Vantine Mrs. McDougall and Mrs. Roy F. Bancroft, of the courtesy committee, assisted by other members.

P. M. Morkin Buys
South End Corner

The sale of the northwest corner of Cerritos avenue and San Fernando Road for $15,000 was reported yesterday by Realtor L. H. Wilson. The property was occupied and owned by John McKay. The new owner is P. M. Morkin of 430 Garfield avenue, who is associated with Mr. Wilson. The sale was made through the Elsie-Jane Realty company of 1424 South Central avenue.

PROCLAMATION

IN THESE DAYS of stress, when the nations of the earth are still suffering from the ills of the most destructive war known to history, some influence is sadly needed to lighten the feeling of distrust and discontent which permeates the great mass of the people. During the world war, we in America felt a common tie, a common purpose, and, for the time, we forgot sectarian and class distinctions and became one people, one nation. Since the war we have returned very largely to the old selfish mode of civic and national life and have even more than ever emphasized group organization and class prejudice.

Possibly the only medium through which the people may be brought closer together, regardless of creed, politics or class, is music.

Therefore, at this Christmas season, it is fitting that the citizens of Glendale, regardless of religious belief, political affiliation, race, color or social position, should celebrate the birth of the One who came that all peoples "should have life and should have it more abundantly," by the old fashioned custom of singing Xmas carols around the community Christmas tree.

As Mayor of Glendale, I, therefore, heartily endorse the efforts of Glendale Community Service in seeking the cooperation of all the organizations and groups in the community with the purpose of making the community Christmas celebration to be held at the high school grounds on Christmas night, truly representative of the real community spirit of Glendale.

I urgently request that all citizens of the community join heartily in the spirit of good-will which marks this occasion, and help Glendale Community Service in its desire to make our city a "City of Neighbors" as well as a "City of Homes."

SPENCER ROBINSON, Mayor.

By International News Service Leased Wire

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—A new and drastic remedy for the breakdowns in railroad transportation was proposed in the senate this afternoon by Senator Hiram Johnson, Republican, of California, in offering an amendment to the Esch-Cummings act to forbid a railroad to declare a dividend until the interstate commerce commission first certified its equipment to be commensurate with the public's needs.

U. S. DENIES CONSIDERATION OF REPARATIONS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—At the state department today it was denied that the American government has "seriously considered" much less "laid before any foreign government" the proposal for an American commission to deal with reparations, either formally or informally. Such a course, it was stated, would be manifestly improper, wholly aside from its practicability. If such a plan is before the French government, it was said, it was put there by persons who have no connection, officially, or unofficially, with the American government.

SEEKS TO MAKE NATIONAL CAPITAL REAL DRY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—Representative William D. Upshaw, Democrat, of Georgia, embarked upon a personal campaign today to make the national capital "as dry as the Sahara." Incensed at the disregard of the prohibition laws among government office holders and denouncing those officials who are "officially dry and personally wet," Representative Upshaw today sent President Harding a letter requesting him to issue a Christmas proclamation calling upon all officials of the government to personally observe as well as enforce the law.

FORCE TEST IN COURT OF WRIGHT DRY LAW

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 22.—To force a court test of the Wright dry enforcement law which became effective at midnight, Frank Burke submitted to arrest today a block from the hall of justice. He was waiting with a flask of whiskey when Officer Dick Skain came along. Burke took over the flask and in the presence of the officer took a drink. He was promptly arrested and booked as a violator of the Wright act. Attorney William Hornblower, acting for the "wets," immediately took steps to secure a writ of habeas corpus, alleging the act is unconstitutional.

FIND BODIES OF KIDNAPED MEN, IS REPORTED

MERROUGE, La., Dec. 22.—The bodies of Watt Daniels and Thomas Richards, who were kidnaped last August by a band of masked men, were found floating on the surface of Lake La Fourche, a short distance from here, it was reported to officials in Merrouge by a woman who said her husband discovered the bodies while fishing. Squads of officers left here immediately for Lake La Fourche to verify the woman's story. Lake La Fourche is fifteen miles from Merrouge and a trip of about an hour and a half over poor roads will be necessary to confirm the story, which, however, was given credence. The woman was positive the bodies had been found.

WOMEN VOTE 67,000 TO 0 AGAINST ARBUCKLE

PITTSBURG, Pa., Dec. 22.—If the voice of the club women of Pennsylvania is for anything, "Fatty" Arbuckle pictures will not be shown in this commonwealth, even though the state board of censors has announced it will pass the comedian's films. With the latest returns in, the vote against Arbuckle today stood 67,000 to nothing. The two most powerful women's organizations in the state, the State Federation of Pennsylvania women, with a membership of 50,000, and the Congress of Women's Clubs, with 17,000 members, today sent vigorous protests to Will H. Hays, head of the movie industry, and also to Director of Public Safety George W. McCandless of this city, against the release of any Arbuckle films.

BELIEVE ONE AVIATOR SURVIVES PLANE WRECK

TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 22.—The report of an Indian runner that only one body, instead of two, had been seen near the wrecked and burned plane in the Arizona desert, seventy-five miles from here, which is believed to be the craft used in the ill fated flight from San Diego to Tucson by Colonel Francis Marshall and Lieutenant Charles Webber, on December 7, today caused army and local officials to redouble their efforts to locate the plane and the bodies of the men. It was reported yesterday that both men had been burned to death and their charred remains found in the wrecked plane. Belief prevailed here that one of the men had survived the wreck. Colonel A. J. McNab, in charge of the Tucson base for the search, declared he scouts the story. He said that in the search planes had (Continued on page 14)

ARRANGE PROGRAM
FOR COMMUNITY
TREE MONDAY

Invite All Glendale to Be at High School Grounds on Christmas Night

After the family Christmas tree has been lighted, the gifts opened and the turkey's all eaten, Christmas Day isn't going to lag for Glendaleans, for they are going to have a big event to anticipate Monday night, when the big community Christmas celebration is to take place on the Glendale Union High school grounds.

It's going to be the grand finale of Christmas Day and the program as arranged yesterday by the chairman of the various committees promises to record the affair as one of the most important events in the city's history.

Harry Girard is to be the master of ceremonies of the holiday program that will begin at 7:30 o'clock around the giant pine tree on the high school lawn.

Arrange Program

The block in front of the high school is to be roped off late Monday afternoon and as representatives of the various organizations arrive they will be grouped about the tree for the festivities.

Included in the program as announced this morning will be:

Music by the high school orchestra, "Largo" (Handel), "Nazareth" (Gounod), led by Mrs. Dora L. Gibson.

Christmas carols, men's clubs of Glendale and choir of Holy Family Catholic church, "God Rest You Merry Gentlemen" and "O Come All Ye Faithful," led by Harry Girard.

Songs by school children of first and second grades, "Wonderful Tree," "God Bless the Master of This House" and "Ring Out Sweet Bells," led by Miss Brennenham and Mrs. Kent.

Music in the Air

Community singing, "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear," and "Hark the Herald Angels Sing," led by Alexander Stewart.

Christmas carol, choir of Central Christian church, "White Shepherds Watched Their Flocks," led by Alexander Stewart.

BUSINESS CORNER
TO BE IMPROVED

L. H. Wilson to Convert Building Acquired on San Fernando Road

The northwest corner of San Fernando road and Central avenue will be improved by Realtor L. H. Wilson of 1034 South San Fernando road, who first acquired this property from G. H. McLean.

This sale was brought about recently by the Elsie-Jane Realty company of 1424 South Central avenue. The purchase involved a consideration of $28,000.

The property is occupied by a two-story building on the corner, which contains the De Luxe hotel, the paint store of T. B. Reavis, and the Triangle Garage, which has been operated by Mr. and Mrs. McLean. Adjoining it is a one-story building occupied by the electric and toy shop of C. L. Brenkman, and the optometrical and jewelry shop of G. E. Ross.

Mr. Wilson stated yesterday that he intended to turn the garage into a market, having an entrance from both Central avenue and San Fernando road and to add another story to the one-story building as soon as its lease expires.

Billboards Soon to Appear in Glendale

Billboards are expected to make their appearance in the business district of Glendale as the result of an ordinance passed by the City Council last night. The ordinance, it is explained at the city hall, prohibits the billboards in the residential sections of the city.

The ordinance was introduced by Councilman Dwight W. Stephenson, seconded by Councilman A. H. Lapham. It requires that the boards be a certain kind and be back from the sidewalk a certain distance.

Charity Show Given At United Theatre

Many little kiddies will be made happy on Christmas morning by receiving a package of goodies, articles of clothing or other necessities as a result of the charity show given by the United theatre of Eagle Rock last evening. The receipts were very satisfactory and will help materially in relieving distress in some of the crowded tenements of Los Angeles. All money taken in, with the exception of that going to the government for war tax will be devoted, relieving the needy during Christmas week.

"Two Much Business" was featured by Edward Horton and "Sawmill" by Larry Semon kept the audience on tip toe. "Roving Thomas" saw New York and, of course, there were numerous scenes of travel.

CONDEMN HAYS' ACTION
NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—American film exhibitors are heartily opposed to the return of Roscoe Arbuckle to the screen. Hays' action in reinstating the fat comedian was condemned in a statement issued by headquarters of the Motion Picture Owners of America, an organization of 12,000 film house proprietors.

EAGLE ROCK SIGN POLICE TRAILING NOW OPERATING AT NEW SITE A. LEUTHERER'S ASSAILANT

Lights Turned on Last Night For First Time in Several Weeks

C. Stetson, Who Was Grilled Regarding Attack Once Is Sought Again

Eagle Rock's big electric sign, which was erected at a cost of $800 by members of the Chamber of Commerce, and recently moved to the Edwards & Wilkey and Shaff properties on Eagle mountain, adjoining the city on the south, blazed forth in regal splendor last night for the first time since it was moved to the new site.

The big sign, which can be seen for miles day or night, lies at an altitude of about 450 feet above the city proper. "Eagle Rock" is all it says, but that is sufficient to notify the wayfarer that he is entering one of the finest little cities in the state.

Lighting Hours Changed
From now on the lights will be switched on at sundown and will remain burning until 10:30 or 11 o'clock at night. Chief of Police Claude Bramble will see to it that the city having indicated a willingness to do its part.

Wiley & Haimbaugh, electrical dealers of South Central, had charge of the wiring. They also donated two days' time to the undertaking and furnished material at cost.

Much credit is due Milton H. Berry, Jr., for his activity in securing funds for this undertaking. He was chairman of the finance committee to raise the money and took a very active part in that and in seeing the big sign placed in its present location.

VOTE OF CONFIDENCE
PARIS, Dec. 22.—The French senate has given a unanimous vote of confidence to Premier Poincare.

A tourist in passing through four states recently was required to purchase four different sets of lenses so that his headlights would comply with state laws. Uniformity in highway regulation is needed.

Not being satisfied with the story E. B. Stetson told them when arrested by Eagle Rock officers and brought before Anton Leutherer, of 4353 1/2 Alumni avenue, for identification, the officers made another trip to 5225 Market street, Lawndale, last night, in the hopes of again placing him under arrest—but the bird had flown.

In scouting around the neighborhood of Stetson's place of residence, the officers found that he had been using several names, one of these being Case. Whether Case or Stetson is his true name is still a mystery. At any rate, he had evidently expected the officers would hunt him up again after running down his story about having loaned his auto to young Rogers of Pasadena the day the assault was committed on Anton Leutherer, and had put a little more distance between himself and the officers.

Eagle Rock officers are now confident that Stetson, or Case, as the case may be, was one of the men who followed Anton Leutherer for many blocks in a Ford car, attempting to crowd him into the curb and finally attacking him in front of his home, on Tuesday evening last.

The fact that he had changed from rough to neat clothes; had put on a pair of nose glasses and otherwise "dressed" up between the time when Leutherer was assaulted and the time Stetson was confronted by Leutherer Wednesday night, and further that Leutherer was in a highly nervous condition at the time the attack took place, is given for the reason of the man not being identified by Leutherer.

Neighborhood women who witnessed the assault and also got a good view of the two men when they attacked Leutherer, are positive they could identify either of them. Their description fits Stetson to a T.

Doll Raffle Winner May Lose Big Prize

The owner of winning number seventy-three, which captured the beautiful doll given away by the Doll shop last week, has not yet put in an appearance. In case the person fails to claim Grace before 8 o'clock tonight, another number will be drawn, announces Mrs. Wentworth of the P. T. A.

Someone will get Noreen another beautiful doll after the picture shown tonight at the P. T. A. community theatre.

"The Rosary," adapted from the famous play and song, with Jane Novak in the leading role, will be shown at the community theatre at the Central school this evening under the auspices of the Parent-Teachers' association.

Their failure to get Stetson identified, the officers still expect to get him, and his companion, or an explanation that will satisfy them as to who was using the car on that day.

Personal Mention

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Brand last night entertained a party of friends from Spokane, Wash., at "Mira Dero," their Grand View avenue home.

Mrs. D. E. Sanker of 328 West Vine street returned Wednesday after having spent a week visiting in Los Angeles at the home of her aunt, Mrs. W. W. Watson of Los Angeles.

A group of local high school girls, including Misses Doris Moyse, Dorothy Cotton and Marian Rowley, enjoyed a swimming party at Bimini, Los Angeles, on Wednesday night.

S. L. Winthrop of Lancaster was in this city on business Thursday afternoon. Mr. Winthrop is a former resident of East Grange Grove avenue, where he still owns several houses.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Mitchell and daughter, Lois, of Palmdale, spent several days last week visiting at the home of Mrs. Mitchell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Woodburn of 636 East Harvard street.

Mrs. Lucille Stadmore of Pasadena was the dinner guest last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Fuller of West Windsor road. Mrs. Stadmore, who was formerly Miss Harper of Eagle Rock, is a cousin of Mrs. Fuller.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Woodbury of 636 East Harvard street have sold their home at that address and are moving this week to Palmdale, where they will spend several months at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Mitchell.

Mrs. W. A. Anderson and her daughter, Mrs. Woodruff Barker of 409 West Wilson avenue, entertained at luncheon yesterday Mrs. John Steward, Mrs. Newell Steward, Mrs. A. J. Brady and Mrs. Kenneth McClelland of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Chambers of 719 East Colorado boulevard are entertaining at their house guests Mrs. Chambers' brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Rhoades of Durham, Calif. The visitors will remain in Glendale until after the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Fleischmann of 703 South Adams street, have received a telegram to the effect that their friends, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Servatius, and daughter Lois, of Pond du Lac, Wis., are leaving for Glendale to spend the holidays at the Fleischmann home. Unless their plans change it is their intention to settle permanently in this city.

Mrs. Mary A. Ayers of 223 East Palmer street has returned home from an extended visit in Bakersfield.

Miss Lula M. Wooldridge, supervisor of domestic science in the city schools, will spend the school vacation week with her parents at their home in Upland.

Mrs. F. M. Rinehart of 311 West Colorado street, who has been ill for over two weeks, has now completely recovered and has every intention of having just as merry a Christmas and happy a New Year as anyone.

Mrs. L. E. Wadsworth and son Billy of Roseburg, Ore., arrived in Glendale last Saturday to be the guests for the winter in the Arthur Fryer home at 424 Riverdale drive. Mrs. Wadsworth is a sister of Mrs. Fryer.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Baxter, who recently moved from San Diego to North Island street, this city, left for their former home yesterday, where they will spend Christmas at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Baxter.

Jack Fenton of South Central avenue, who recently recovered from an attack of the flu, will leave Saturday morning for Petaluma, where he will spend the Christmas holidays at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Fenton. Mr. Fenton will return to Glendale about January 10.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Heller of North Orange street left Wednesday for Arrowhead Lake, where they will spend the Christmas holidays with a party of friends. They were accompanied by Mr. Heller's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Heller of Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Howe and children Edith and James, are in the city for the holidays. They will be at their home at 446 West Burchett. Mr. Howe, for fourteen years was vice principal of the Glendale high school. From here he went to Coachella where he is superintendent of schools. At the first of the year the family will return to that city.

Mr. and Mrs. George Colson, 405 East Harvard street, who attended the funeral of J. C. Warner of Whittier, have returned to Glendale. The services were held Wednesday. Mr. Warner was preceded in death by his wife, who died just two weeks before, on December 6. Both Mr. and Mrs. Warner had many friends in Glendale.

SOCIAL EVENTS

WOMEN'S RELIEF CORPS

Department President Emma Scheer, of Santa Monica, will be the guest of honor at this afternoon's meeting of the Women's Relief Corps, auxiliary to the G. A. R., at its hall of 900 South Glendale avenue. As inspection by a department president takes place but once a year, this lends a special significance to the meeting.

Morover, today's is an all day session, with the Army post meeting at 10:30, dinner at 12 and the Relief Corps event at 2:30. An unusually full and colorful day is assured, with the weather fair and the Christmas season at hand.

The next meeting of the W. R. C. will take place January 12, announces Mrs. S. Houdyshe, and the occasion will mark the installation of the officers recently elected.

HOLD CHRISTMAS PARTY
Mrs. Paul Hoffman of 327 North Maryland avenue was hostess Wednesday afternoon at the Christmas party of the women's missionary society of the First Lutheran church.

The Christmas colors, red and green, decorated the Hoffman home, where a miniature Christmas tree was gay with ornaments, tinsel icicles and candles.

Christmas stories and carols were enjoyed. At the close of the singing the company marched by candle light to place an offering around the tree, while "Silent Night, Holy Night" was played on the Victrola.

CHAPTER HOLDS LUNCHEON
Chapter C. J. of P. E. O. met yesterday with Mrs. W. W. Hamilton of 347 West Garfield avenue for luncheon and a business and social afternoon.

The table was attractively decorated with holly and poinsettias, and a small Christmas tree adorned the center. Indeed, the decorations did not end with the table, but were in general and abundant evidence.

Following the luncheon came the business meeting.

Then the members gathered around the Christmas tree and opened the gifts it bore—gifts each member had brought for some other member. This afforded a great deal of pleasure and interest.

A program of Christmas stories and poems was then given, closing happily a day that had been very enjoyable.

JOHN MCGROARTY
TO MAKE SPEECH
Verdugo Hills Scribe to Be Guest of Honor Sunday At Community Building
John Steven McGroarty, "Scribe of the Green Verdugo Hills," author of the "Mission Play," and writer of California history and romance, is to be honored guest and speaker Sunday afternoon at the cornerstone ceremony at the community center building in Sparr Heights, one of Glendale's exclusive residential sections, located in the "Heart of the Verdugos."
The new building is being dedicated to the city of Glendale by William Sparr, Senator Leslie E. Francis and the Francis-Barnum-Walters company and invitations to the affair have been sent to all local social, civic, fraternal and religious organizations and to all residents of Glendale.
Music, Refreshments
The ceremony will begin at 2 o'clock and in addition to Mr. McGroarty, Mayor Spencer Robinson and Dr. J. E. Russell, president of the Federation of Glendale Improvement associations, will speak.
Music will be furnished by the Elks' band and late in the afternoon refreshments will be served by the women of the Glendale Community Service organization, who have been selected as patronesses.
For the convenience of their guests the Francis-Barnum-Walters Company has arranged free transportation. Special cars on the Glendale and Montrose Railway are to leave 200 East Broadway in front of the Francis-Barnum-Walters branch office, where free tickets can be obtained.
Business will be laid aside by the company next Sunday and all efforts will be devoted to the dedication ceremonies. It is predicted that a large crowd will be in attendance from Glendale.

New Church Elects Officers for 1923
The first meeting of the official board of the recently organized Broadway Methodist church took place Wednesday night in the offices of Attorney Bert P. Woodard in the Broadway Central building. The following members were selected to act as officers for the first year of the church's existence:
Board of trustees—T. J. Fambrough, president; J. W. Knight, secretary.
Stewards—C. P. Brice, president; Mrs. J. M. Green, financial secretary. J. N. McGillis was elected secretary of the joint board.

Births

5 Reasons Why You Should Install THIS Concrete Cesspool

1. Our blocks are circular and will make a complete and compact circle. Therefore, a Cesspool built of our circular blocks cannot cave in.
2. Seepage is obtained through five uniform holes in each block, and not by spacing the blocks.
3. Therefore, our circular blocks allow for all the seepage that the earth around them will absorb, without weakening the walls of the Cesspool.
4. Our Circular Blocks are made of concrete and are properly cured. Therefore, they will outlast anything else that has, heretofore, been used for this particular purpose.
5. Our Circular Blocks are of uniform size, standard quality, and must be used for Cesspools only, when perforated.

Therefore, only one grade material can be used.
Last, but not least, IT DOES NOT COST ANY MORE.

Three Members of Dope Ring Jailed
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 22.—Three members of a "dope ring," believed by police to be one of the most active in Southern California in distributing narcotics were apprehended early today by the chance finding of a note book with a package of "hop needles" between the book fly leaves.
In a search of the trio's rooms in South Grand avenue the police said they discovered a quantity of narcotics and a note book, containing the names of numerous prominent people, among which was that of Wallace Reid and his Longpre street address. Reid is now recovering from a three months' illness said to be the result of breaking himself of the habit of using liquor and narcotics. The other names were not given out by the police.
The men who are charged with violating the state poison laws, are: C. L. Johnson, who claims to be an internal revenue department employee; James Skuris, known as a narcotic user, and J. E. Harvey, clerk.

FARCE PRESENTED BY GIRL SCOUTS

Show Staged Last Night by Troop Four; Xmas Fund
Is Enriched $25

"Ye Earle Hubert's Christmas Gifte," presented by the Girl Scouts of Troop Four last night at the Pearl G. Curran School of Music, 214 East Chestnut street, proved a success. A highly appreciative group of their friends formed the audience and enjoyed the adventures of Hubert in his search for happiness.

Rose Bagley played the part of the unhappy Earl. Helen Houle took the role of Hubert's mother; Betty Heustis as Alan Silverstone, the minstrel who led the Earl to happiness; and Beatrice Smith and Ruth Houle, the poor children, put much of character into their roles. Other characters were Madge, a waiting maid, Virginia Baudino; Robin, a page; Peggy Clark, and guards to the Earl, Dorothy Chappius and Genevieve Burr. The troop of singing minstrels consisted of Betty Heustis, Catherine Doll, Ruth Heustis, Madeline Guglielmino, Peggy Brennan, La Verne Wolfram, Anna Ratigan and Vivian Russell.

The program opened when La Verne Wolfram appeared to greet the audience with Eugene Field's "God Rest You Christian Gentlemen." There followed "The First Noel," sung by the minstrels, and then the curtain was raised on the first act, "What Child Is This?" sung in the second act by Betty Heustis, Beatrice Smith and Rose Bagley with the chorus of minstrels. Beatrice Smith also sang "Holy Night," "Good King Wenceslas" was sung by the minstrels between Acts II and III, with Catherine Doll and Betty Heustis singing the parts of the page and the king. "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen" was the closing song, Betty Heustis, Beatrice Smith and Catherine Doll singing the solos.

Between Acts I and II Leo Ratigan played "Silent Night" as a violin solo, accompanied by his sister, Anna Ratigan. The Scouts of Troop Four feel that the success of their Christmas benefit is largely due to the kind assistance they received on every hand from their friends, especially do they feel grateful to Mrs. Curran for the use of her hall. The result of their efforts is a sum of about twenty-five dollars for their Christmas Fund.

L. H. Wilson Shows Roosevelt's Picture

A large, life-size picture of Theodore Roosevelt, which is lighted at night, now catches the eye of all those who pass 1024 South Brand boulevard—the new office of L. H. Wilson.

This large oil painting at one time was the property of the St. Louis Republican club and before coming west Mr. Wilson had intended to present it to the Hamilton club in Chicago, of which he is a member.

Mr. Wilson is receiving many compliments upon the attractiveness of his new office which is finished in silver gray. The "little mill" formerly occupied by Mr. Wilson's office is now the property of Michael Berlin of Hollywood, who acquired this property a few months ago. Mr. Berlin was in Glendale yesterday looking over recent improvements on South San Fernando road. He is making tentative plans for the erection of business buildings upon his holdings there.

Mr. Wilson reports the real estate business very good in his vicinity. He is being assisted in his activities by P. M. Morkin of 439 Garfield avenue, H. V. Penkiron of 555 West Park avenue and Miss Irene Nelson of 206 Fairview avenue.

LOCAL MEN FORM LOAN ASSOCIATION

Lease Quarters of Security Trust & Savings Bank at 104 East Broadway

Standing for future development and progress of "Glendale the city of Homes" the Golden State Building & Loan Association has been organized by a group of Glendale bankers and business men and is now operating in the Security Trust & Savings bank at 104 East Broadway, which is to be the exclusive home of the association upon the completion of the bank's new home on the old Pacific Electric station site.

The purpose of the association as stated by the officers is to make loans to build more homes and do a general building and loan business. They intend to make loans for ten years, paid off in small monthly payments, and to help borrowing members as well as investing members to save more.

It is their plan to help renters to become home owners and this they say will mean more thrift, more homes, more people and more business for "Glendale the fastest growing city of its kind in the United States."

Well Known Here Assurance of the success of the new organization may be found in its directorate, which includes men well known in local business affairs. They are Dan Campbell, president; W. W. Lee, vice-president; Charles N. Elder, secretary; R. F. Kitterman, treasurer; W. S. Perrin, R. L. Kent, E. C. Pendroy, directors; W. E. Evans, attorney. The security committee has as members J. R. Bentley, Arthur Campbell and T. A. Wright. On the finance committee are Ezra P. Parker, J. B. Whitaker and Jesse E. Smith.

Charles N. Elder, who is to serve as secretary and manager has resided in California for two years, during which time he has been general agent for the Western Building & Loan Company, one of the largest organizations of its kind in the west. Mr. Elder, formerly lived in Kansas City, Mo., where he was in charge of a building and loan business for several years.

Lease Quarters The new association has leased the quarters of 104 East Broadway and until the new home of the Security Trust & Savings bank is completed the bank and association will share quarters.

The mahogany and marble furniture and fixtures in the bank building have been purchased by the Golden State association and a lease taken on the building. Two years ago the First National Bank, located in the building before consolidation with the Security bank, fitted up a room for a building and loan organization but the project was never carried out and later the bank consolidation took place.

Operating under supervision of the State building and Loan Department with an authorized capital of one million dollars and being a local institution, owned and operated by local men, this company will render a much needed service to Glendale. The object is to encourage industry, thrift and frugality and the accumulation of savings among its shareholders, members and others and to make loans for buying and building homes.

Loans will be made for a period of ten years and can be paid off in small monthly payments like rent, a part of the principal with interest being paid each month on the amortization plan similar to the Federal farm loan plan.

To accumulate a still larger loan fund, the plan is to issue both full paid and monthly installment membership shares and investment certificates which will form an ideal and absolutely safe means for saving and investing either large or small sums on which 6 per cent and 7 per cent interest compounded semi-annually will be paid.

Potato Will Admit Kiddies to Movie

Potatoes are the password at the T. D. & L. Theatre Saturday. Every child under 14 years of age presenting two or more good medium-sized potatoes at the box office, for the afternoon performance, will be admitted without further charge. Rodolph Valentino's great film, "The Young Rajah," is being shown.

These potatoes will be donated to the Monte Vista home for children, as a contribution from the young folks of Glendale. This affords the kiddies an opportunity to aid this home in its splendid work and at the same time see Valentino's fine picture.

Manager Ralph Allan, through C. L. Langley of Turner, Dahlen & Langley, makes this offer to all children of Glendale and the Monte Vista home, as a token of the Christmas season.

Death of Aviators Is Not Confirmed

TUSCON, Ariz., Dec. 22.—Either Colonel Francis N. Marshall or Lieutenant Charles L. Webber, aviators, reported yesterday to be found burned to death in their wrecked plane on the Arizona desert, may have survived, according to word received here today. The sheriff's office reported that the Indian who gave information of seeing a wrecked plane "standing on its nose," observed only one body beside the machine. Infantry, cavalry and a squadron of airplanes were dispatched from Tucson to continue the search. Efforts to find the plane where it was reported first to have been seen, have so far proved futile.

PLAN TO RAISE L. A. CITY TAXES

'Grave Financial Crisis' Is Ahead, Is Predicted by President Criswell

The municipal situation in Los Angeles will be "grave" next year, the city will face a "financial crisis" and the tax rate will be increased, according to a story appearing in The Los Angeles Herald yesterday. Similar stories appeared in other Los Angeles newspapers. In view of the annexation "movement" started in Glendale, The Evening News reproduces The Herald's story in full:

"Increases in both the city's general tax and the occupational business license tax are being advocated by city councilmen, who contend that increased expenses of municipal government will confront the city with a grave financial situation during the next year, despite the fact that the voters last August ratified an amendment to the city charter increasing municipal taxes 25 per cent.

"President Criswell predicts a 'grave financial crisis' for the city as the result of the passage of the police and fire department pension amendment, while he also declares that increases in the personal property tax and the department which must be made within the near future, and additions which have already been granted the police department in its personnel, will greatly add to the cost of government.

"I am convinced that in all probability it will be necessary for us to increase the city's occupational business license tax instead of reducing or entirely eliminating it, as had been hoped when the voters ratified the increase of the city's tax rate," said President Criswell of the council.

Huge Expense "He declared that next year it will require $5,000,000 to cover salaries in the police and fire departments alone. In addition it was stated that the new pension amendment as ratified by the voters at last August's election, will call for additional expenditures of $800,000.

Councilman Musket, chairman of the council's finance committee, in discussion of the asserted financial crisis which, it is contended, will stare the municipal legislators in the face next spring, declared that a charter amendment should be submitted to the voters at the earliest possible time proposing an increase in the city tax rate, now fixed at $1.25, for the purpose of meeting the increased expense that will be involved after the city legislature approves the police and fire department pension amendment.

Protest Plan "Any effort to increase the city's occupational license tax, it was announced today by George M. Babcock, managing director of the Co-operative Business Men's association, will meet with an avalanche of protest from business men of the city.

"Babcock declared that business men feel that with the higher tax rate in effect next year, that the city council should summarily repeal the occupational business license tax. He declared that business men supported the increased tax rate amendment with the understanding and promise that this tax against business and professional men of the city would be repealed."

Moslem Massacre Is Reported in Crete

LONDON, Dec. 22.—A massacre of Moslems has broken out upon the Greek island of Crete and many have been slain, according to a Central News dispatch from Athens today, quoting reports received in that city from Anatolia. Famine conditions prevail in Crete as a result of the tremendous influx of refugees from Asia-Minor.

Many farms owned by Moslems with all their stock have been confiscated. The Italian consul in Crete has intervened in an effort to establish order.

Two of Features for
First Gathering

after which Ernest E. Ford and his son Robert delivered a duet whose words were a Christmas greeting to Rotarians and their friends.

The meeting was then thrown open to other boy guests who wished to entertain the gathering, and several responded. Manager
William Howe of the Glendale Theatre rejoiced the hearts of the young men by extending to them a blanket invitation to attend his matinee performance that afternoon, the only ticket required being the password "Rotary" at the door.

Make Movie Record
The Boy Scout orchestra then played the popular waltz, "Three o'Clock in the Morning," after which the entire assemblage adjoined to the street below, where a motion picture cameraman and machine, provided by Manager Howe, made a celluloid record of the occasion. This film will be reel off at the Glendale Theatre in the near future, enabling all to "See themselves as others see them," in the words of Robert Burns.

This interesting and varied program was preceded by a short business meeting that took place during the course of the luncheon, at which the principal subject of discussion was the fourteen survey blanks passed out at last week's meeting. These blanks, which were to be filled out with certain information concerning the cases the Glendale Rotary club is handling, came back with exceptional promptness and in excellent form, stated President Kent.

Greetings From Club

The club decided that each member who had made the survey should purchase and deliver a suitable Christmas present to the particular child. These gifts are in no wise to be considered as charity, but as a greeting from Rotary to the little unfortunates, at this season when the Star that shone over Bethlehem is at its zenith. The club was emphatic in its sentiments on this subject.

As next Thursday night is "Ladies' Night," when members will bring their wives to a big turkey dinner at 6:30 o'clock, there will be no midday luncheon, it was decided. This event is looked forward to as a happy time indeed and every effort is being expended to make it a big success.

The visiting Rotarians who attended yesterday's luncheon were
A. Nelson, Laramie, Wyo., N. J.
Lindgreen, Aberdeen, S. Dak., E.
Voorhies, Berkeley, and A. Baker, Huntington Park.

Among the boys who were present and helped to make the meeting so enjoyable were Russell
Newton, Preston Henning, Henry
Sawyer, Winard Hall, Howard
Kent, Weston Kent, Robert Ford,
William Redmond, Eugene Kille,
Harry Clark, Roland Oliver, Wil-

HUGE COLLECTION OF PLANTS SHOWN

Glendale Florist Exhibits
Flowers Grown for Christmas Trade

Some idea of the magic that horticulturists wield over flowers and plants can be seen this week at the Glendale Florist, 120
South Brand.

J. T. Allen, manager of the shop, said this morning that the fifty or more blooming plants that are now on display have been petted along for the past six months so that they would be at proper bloom for the Christmas trade.

The plants are grown in one of the largest greenhouses in the southwestern part of the state,
Mr. Allen states.
He says the display on hand at present is the largest collection of plants ever shown in Glendale, and one of the largest he has ever handled at one time.

Mr. Allen invites the public to drop in his store for a look at the plants. He asserts their fragrance will send one away filled with Christmas cheer.

TROOPS GUARD DIVERS

MERRIDGE, La., Dec. 22.—
Despite assurances that there is nothing for anyone to become worried about and that the town is entirely calm, there is an undercurrent of uneasiness here today, as state troopers guard divers who are searching the waters of two lakes nearby in an effort to find the bodies of two men kidnaped last August by masked men.

idea, said that appraised committees are now maintained by real estate organizations in various sections of the United States. One of the big duties that an agency of this kind could perform, he explained, would be to appraise property for national and state departments.

A motion that a thorough study of the matter be made by the local board was offered and passed. It will be taken up again at the meeting next Tuesday.

E. P. Hayward, secretary of the organization, read a communication from the Chamber of Commerce regarding the fund being collected for the float to represent Glendale at the Rose Tournament in Pasadena New Year's day. The membership adopted a resolution that $25 be donated toward the cause.

Plan Aid in Sales

Tentative plans were made at the meeting for the creation by the local board of an appraising committee to work with the members of the organizations in placing valuations on local real estate, to aid in its sale. This matter also will be taken up at the next meeting.

The multiple listing school, which was begun by the organization last week, will be continued over the succeeding two Tuesdays, it was announced. The school will be conducted in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce. It will remain in session from 5 to 6 o'clock. All matters relating to the new multiple listing system are taken up for discussion and explained at the school.

Learn Numbers on Your License Plate

Do you know your own license number?

Almost five out of every nine automobile owners in California cannot give their state license number off hand if called for suddenly, say officials of the theft bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

This is a lamentable state of affairs, say the authorities, but one which is nevertheless true and it is the cause of many motorists losing their machines nearly every month.

If your car is stolen, the first thing the detectives of the theft bureau of the Auto club will ask is: "What is its license number?"
Then you will have to give the engine number and details regarding essential points of description.

If a motorist is unable to give the license number at once, the auto thief stands a fair chance of getting out of the state with the stolen car because there is no way of stopping him by telegraph or radio at the state's borders, as could be done if the license numbers were available.

Club officials suggest that those motorists who are simply unable to remember six numbers of their state license should file this number with the theft bureau together with the engine number and general description of the car so that all he will have to do if the machine is stolen is to give the detectives his name and let them do the rest, as this file system is arranged alphabetically and the service is available for the public at large.

Number of Glendale Boys Will Make Journey to Old Baldy Camp

Boy Scouts of the Verdugo Hills district today are looking forward to next Tuesday when they will start on their first snow hike to "Old Baldy."

"Only a few more places are left," stated Scout Executive Harold Benner this morning. "The scouts, who have been waiting until the last minute should sign up at once. Saturday will be the last day for applications and there is sure to be a big rush at the last minute."

"There will absolutely be no danger for any boy who goes on this big trip," declared Peter L. Ferry, chairman of the camping committee. "Scout Executive Benner will have personal charge of the expedition, assisted by several of the Scout leaders."

The boys will sleep in a big dormitory at Camp Baldy. Plenty of bedding has been arranged for and there will be hot meals prepared by the Camp Baldy Chefs. Scouts are going on this winter trip from Burbank, Tujunga, La Crescenta and Eagle Rock in addition to those from Glendale. Scouts who have already signed up from Glendale troops are Robert Perry, Robert St. Clair, Robert Sturgess, Wallace Haines, Dave Chandler, Charles Pratt, George Jameson, William Rhodes, Howard Heck, William Delany, Robert Hatch, Horace Brown, Kenneth Miles, Robert Eastman, Roscoe Graham, Charles Lyman, William Booth, Clifford Croft, Eugene Kille, Lynn Criswell, Edward Sheffer, Jack Packard and Lanier Martin.

Prepare Program

The first day in camp the Scouts will be given the run of Camp Baldy. On the second day the group will be divided into four parties, according to age, with an adult leader in charge and will go on hikes of exploration up both the San Antonio and Icehouse canyons. Perhaps a party of the older boys may even venture as far as the "Divide." The second day will be devoted to all kinds of winter sports with sledding, skiing and tracking. A big feature of the day's program will be an old fashioned snowball fight. Only soft snowballs will be permitted but the Scouts will have plenty of action even with them.

Boy Scouts Assist With Xmas Baskets

"All Boy Scouts of the Verdugo Hills District are urged to remember that tomorrow is the last day to bring the cocoa and condensed milk for the welfare Bureau Xmas Baskets," this morning stated Harold Benner, Scout Executive.

At its meeting last Monday the Troop Leaders Roundtable voted unanimously in favor of putting the proposition up to their troops for having each Scout contribute a pound of chocolate and a can of condensed milk as part of their Xmas good turns.

"Already a number of troops have made plans for big Xmas baskets which will be distributed Xmas morning, but this cocoa and milk is needed very urgently by the Welfare Bureau to complete their Xmas baskets. Anyone who would like to contribute cocoa or milk is urged to bring it to 103 1/2 S. Brand boulevard, Room 1, the Scout Headquarters."

Revenue Collector Thanks Evening News

Editor The Evening News: In extending to you a hearty Christmas greeting I wish to express to you the thanks of the government for the splendid co-operation you have given the Internal Revenue Service during the past year.

I recognize the fact that you have only two commodities to sell—advertising and circulation. Yet you have given both to the government free of charge. Surely this is 100 per cent loyalty. Again I thank you.

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

That Christmas Gift Value of Music Picture Doing Good U. S. Rescue Work

By Gil A. Cowan

WHAT will the Christmas gift be? Some of you have been putting off the purchase of something for those dearest to you until the very last minute. And now you must make a decision.

Well, there is a wonderful array to be found in the stores still, but perhaps it is something better than you want—a piano, or an automobile, maybe.

A great deal can be said about a piano, or any musical instrument for that matter. It develops an appreciation for the better things in life. A piano in the home is an incentive for the children to cultivate their native musical ability and either learn to play or sing.

The man or woman who can go through life humming little tunes, noting the harmony in things and keeping a rhythmic control of his or her actions has a decided advantage.

It is tritely said that music soothes savage breasts. Yes, indeed, insane asylums use orchestras to soothe their inmates.

While traveling over the Arizona desert recently I stayed for the night at Hassayampa, the last stand before you make a dash for California on the road from Phoenix to Blythe.

Bumpkinwood, over the sand hills a crippled car pulled into the oil station garage and a worn out driver had to have a spring replaced. Casual conversation revealed the fact that he had been playing in the orchestra at Napa insane asylum.

It was his intention to get a similar job in an Arizona institution.

Briefly this tourist extolled the value of music. He said that various types of insanity responded to different tunes. But only the soothing numbers are used, for nothing is done to excite the emotions.

There is good, however, in the proper sort of excitement.

The results of a motion picture presentation in an almshouse recently caused me to think a minute as to the real value of our theatres in maintaining morale and speeding up every day action.

It is said that after the show the inmates registered 12 per cent more vitality as well as presenting a happier and neater appearance.

We know that the pictures set the stage for the here created a desire among thinking women to be beautiful; that they caused the man in the country to dress as nobly as the "city feller" and that as a power for education their possibilities are unlimited.

While the motion picture capital, Hollywood, is again going through the pangs of a nationwide scandal, let us think of the good things the pictures have accomplished in their short life. And let us look at the many good people who make up the profession.

The American people as a whole are contented, entertained, enthused and taught how to live, if nothing else, by the film play. In the organ recitals and orchestra concerts accompanying the pictures they have developed an appreciation of good music.

The photographers, as a rule, are idealists who live the very roles assigned them. The majority keep in physical condition that few may dare approach. Their home life, speaking generally, compares with that of bankers, lawyers, doctors or any other well paid business or professional lines.

Therefore, we must arrive at the conclusion that things are not as bad as they are painted, considering the vast amount of grease paint used in one picture production.

A new development is being encouraged by Radio News, it is learned from publicity sent out by its editor.

That is the formation of radio exchanges for the relaying of broadcasting programs to those who use crystal detector sets.

It is his estimate that $2 per month per subscriber would maintain an "exchange" properly for 200 small sets.

Undoubtedly time will bring forth a radio telephone for the use of all, just as it has the radio telegraph.

However, we must be more careful of our conversation in that day not far distant.

Again the United States must come to the fore in world leadership and prevent a collapse of European finances.

With the German mark down to less than nothing at all, with half of the old world "broke," and the other half hard at it to keep from such a fix, it is time that something was done to forestall and for all but an end to starvation of any mortal.

Charity will not do the work permanently, but work and the will to win will. What seems most necessary is financial domination by this country in the world at large.

Yet it must be tempered by mercy and the money changers driven from the temple of universal peace if it is to succeed.

SEIZE WAR SUPPLIES SEATTLE, Dec. 22.—Plot by Chinese revolutionists to smuggle a large consignment of rifles and ammunition to their forces in China in violation of neutrality laws, was frustrated by federal customs agents when they seized the war supplies on the Blue Funnel liner Protesilaus as the vessel was about to sail for the Orient.

Figures Show Big Growth in Business Over That of Holidays in 1921

Glendale's holiday business this year is surpassing all former records, if reports issued by representatives of local public utilities this morning can be looked on as accurate barometers.

H. A. Goldsberry, Glendale manager for the American Railway Express company, says that his staff has been working day and night for the past two weeks. Inbound and outbound express matter has been so heavy this year that two wagons placed in operation by the company are behind in moving the packages from the office, he said.

Mr. Goldsberry stated that this is the first time in Glendale that he has experienced such a business rush. He said he can't imagine where all the people and packages are coming from.

Reports Big Increase

S. L. Williams, manager of the Western Union Telegraph company, expressed himself similarly on the Christmas rush. He says to date his business has increased more than 40 per cent compared with that of December, 1921.

Captain D. Ripley Jackson, local postmaster, says there is no comparison between this year's business and that of 1921.

"Last year we were housed in our old office, which had only three windows," he said. "This year we had seven windows open from morning to night, and what is more, they were crowded with people continuously."

The combined opinion of local business interests is that people are doing more shopping in Glendale this year because business accommodations have been augmented greatly during the past twelve months.

People Coming Here

As Postmaster Jackson remarked, last year because of poor accommodation and service many people took their postal business to Los Angeles. This year he says, people from Los Angeles, Hollywood and other nearby cities are transacting their business in Glendale.

This condition is contagious among local merchants, also. They report that many people are doing their Christmas buying in Glendale because they can avoid the huge city crowds, and still purchase everything here that is obtainable in Los Angeles or any other large city.

Propose Changes in Motor Vehicle Act

Following numerous suggestions made by its members the legal department of the Automobile Club of Southern California is struggling with contemplated provisions for changes in the motor vehicle act next year.

Undoubtedly the present vehicle act will be changed, say club officials who are preparing to see that the changes will be improvements on the present act. A suggestion is made, and it is backed by a large number of club members that an examination be taken by all who apply for permits to operate a motor vehicle in California.

This examination, it is said, should inquire into the physical fitness of the applicant; into his understanding of the mechanics of driving a motor vehicle and into his knowledge of the elementary road rules. The argument advanced in favor of this suggestion is the experience of the state of Massachusetts.

Figures obtained from Massachusetts show that now one-fourth of those who apply are denied permission to operate an automobile. The first year such a system was applied, 14 per cent of the applicants were rejected and it is also reported that immediately the accidents throughout the state were reduced one-half. In other words, it appears that 14 per cent of the operators causes one-half of Massachusetts' traffic accidents.

The legislature in California meets every two years, and next month begins its 1923 session. The legal department officials of the auto club at this time are considering hundreds of suggestions from club members for improvements in the act.

WOMAN WINS DIVORCE

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 22.—Anita M. Gibson Finegan, former Oakland society belle, won a divorce today from Ray Hanford, film actor, known in private life as Ray F. Finegan, on the grounds of cruelty when Finegan failed to appear and press the serious charges he made against his wife some time ago.

SANTA IS PATRON SAINT OF KIDDIE

Little Girl Implores St. Nick
For Some Toys and
Two Shoes

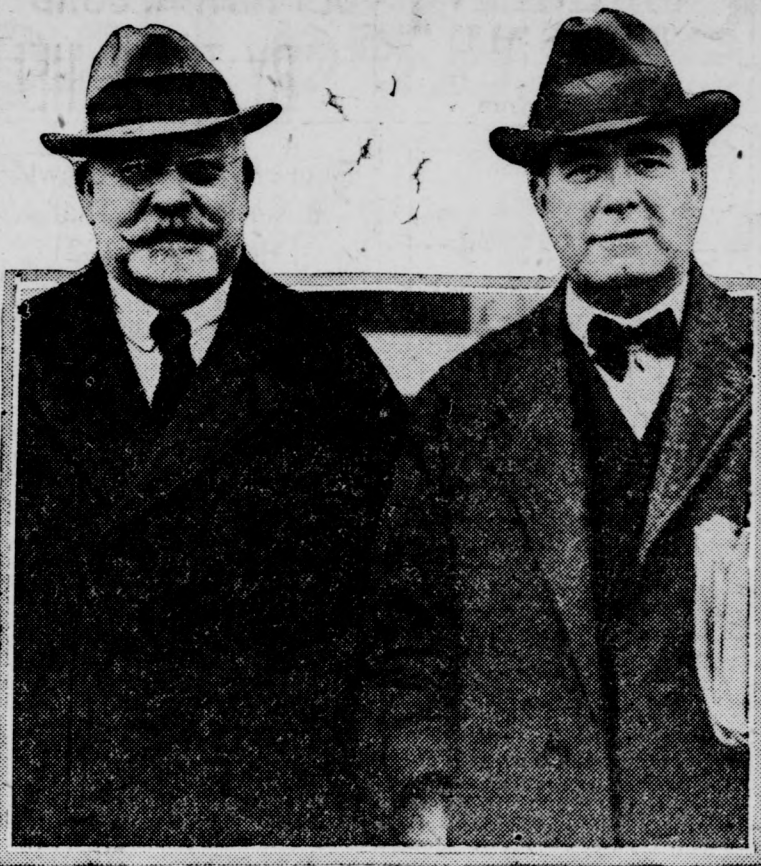

It must be great to be the patron saint of childhood and have all the children in the world worship at your shrine through the whole year and, particularly, on December 25. If the volume of mail bearing his name is any criterion of popularity, Santa Claus has a corner on the hero worship of the world—that is, as far as the kiddies are concerned.

Among the letters received yesterday at the North Pole via Glendale was one scribbled by little fingers on a rough piece of scratch paper. It read:

"Dear Santa Clause, I am writing to ask you to please don't forget us this Xmas. Jack and I have been a good girl and boy. Roy wants—electric train, electric car, tract, tunnel, rail-road house, steam shovel, dumper-dirt, horn, street car, tower-glass windows, rail-road bell, sign.

"And, dear old Santa Clause, I have been a good girl and have helped take care of my brother while mama works please send me dolly, dolly buggy, dishes, 2 shoes, please don't forget my poor daddy in heaven, skates, tennis racket and ball bring mama something nice to."

TAX RECEIPTS IN L. A. ZONE GAIN

Federal Income From Capital Stock of Corporations Nets Increase

Receipts for federal tax on capital stock of corporations in the Los Angeles district for the first five months of the current fiscal year, June 30 to December 1, were $1,081,329.73 as compared with total collections for the entire fiscal year ending June 30, 1921, of $1,106,000, according to a survey completed yesterday by Collector of Internal Revenue Rox Goodell.

The receipts for the five months period amounting to $1,081,329.73 represent federal tax paid on capital stock of Southern California corporations of an actual value of $1,211,545,000.

Collector Goodell pointed out that a business expansion which seems to be peculiar to Southern California, was reflected by the capital stock tax receipts for the five months ending December 1, as they were virtually as large as the collections from this source for the entire fiscal year ending June 30, 1921.

Corporations Show Growth
Striking evidence of the growth of Southern California corporations is shown by comparison of the capital stock tax receipts of the last two years. In 1921 the total was $1,106,000 as against $1,415,000 in 1922, while for five months of the current fiscal year the entire total for 1921 is almost equalled. The 1922 tax receipts represents tax paid on capital stock of an actual value of $1,450,000,000.

Collector Goodell referred to the fact that in one year California corporations reported for taxation net income of $283,000,000, which is greater than the combined income turned in by the corporations of the twelve Pacific coast and far western states.

In addition to gross income of $3,277,000,000 reported by California corporations having net incomes, $919,000,000 was reported by corporations with no net income. In net personal income $1,329,000,000 was returned making a total in gross corporation and net personal income reported in California of $5,475,000,000.

Income Tax Ruling
Another important report just received by Collector Goodell from Washington and released today refers to the income tax ruling affecting husbands and wives who have separate incomes, and who file either separate or joint returns. The report says:

"In the case in issue the husband kept his books on a calendar-year basis and his returns had been prepared in accordance with his books. His wife, however, kept her books on the basis of a fiscal year ending June 30, and filed her returns for 1918, 1919 and 1920 on this basis. The husband sustained a net loss for the year 1921, and he and his wife filed a joint return for the fiscal year 1922, in which this deduction had been applied in accordance with the method prescribed by article 332 of Regulations 62 in the case of the member of a partnership who has an accounting period different from that of the partnership. Therefore, in addition to the wife's allowable deductions there was claimed as a deduction in the wife's return for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1922, the amount of the husband's net loss for the calendar year ended December 31, 1921. Inquiry was made whether this procedure was correct.

Section Explained
The department holds that Section 223 of the Revenue Act of 1921 allows husband and wife living together to file separate returns or to report their aggregate net income for the taxable year on a single return, in which case such return is treated as a taxable unit and the net income disclosed thereon is subject to both normal and surtax as though the return was that of a single individual. Clearly, the accounting periods of the husband and wife must be concurrent in order that such return should reflect the aggregate net income for "the taxable year" within the meaning of this section, the ruling holds. Section 209 of the statute defines the term "taxable year" as a calendar or fiscal accounting period of 12 months. Obviously a return which combines the net income of the husband and wife for a calendar and a fiscal year which are different reflects on aggregate income for an accounting period of more than 12 months, and is not permissible under the statute.

"The method of reporting partnership income where the accounting period of the partner and the partnership are different is specifically provided for in section 218 of the statute, and has no bearing whatever on the question of joint returns by a husband and a wife, it is held."

OPPOSE ARBUCKLE
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 22.—Opposition to the return of the films of Roscoe Arbuckle, who was given a "right to work" by Will Hays, head of the motion picture industry as a Christmas "pardon," was heard in Los Angeles today, when it was learned there was considerable discussion in local women's clubs in officially deploring Arbuckle's proposed return. The Los Angeles club women by a 4 to 1 vote are said to have passed a motion indorsing a previous resolution adopted opposing Arbuckle's resuming picture work.

Give a Bank Account

NOTHING better expresses the loving thoughtfulness of the Yuletide spirit than a Savings Account for children and young people.

It teaches thrift and self respect; it inspires the desire to work and save; it will last, growing in value as time passes. Surely a bank account is a sensible gift.

You can give Security Savings Accounts in any amount—$1.00 or more—opened in the name of either a minor or adult.

Home Safes are furnished without charge. Wrapped in a holly decorated package, they add greatly to the attractiveness of the gift.

The MUCKER
by Edgar Rice Burroughs
Copyright 1921 by Edgar Rice Burroughs

"A year or so ago," he mused, "I'd stuck 'em up for this, an' I thought I was smart. Funay how a feller'll change—an' all fer a skirt. A skirt that belongs to somebody else now, too! Hell! What's the difference, anyhow? She'd be glad if she knew, an' it makes me feel better to act like she'd want. That old farmer guy, now. Who'd ever have taken him fer havin' a heart at all? When I seen him first I thought he'd like to sic the dog on me, an' there he comes along an' tells 'Maw' to pass me a hand-out like this! Gee! It's a funny world. She used to say that most everybody was decent if you went at 'em right, an' I guess she knew. She knew most everything, anyway. Lord, I wish she'd been born on Grand Ave., or on Riverside Drive!"

As Billy walked up to his waiting companion, who had touched a match to the firewood as he sighted the numerous packages in the forager's arms, he was repeating over and over, as though the words held him in the thrall of fascination: "There ain't no sweet Penelope somewhere that's longin' fer me."

Bridge eyed the packages as Billy deposited them carefully and one at a time upon the grass beside the fire. The milk was in a clean little graniteware pail, the eggs had been placed in a paper bag, while the other articles were wrapped in pieces of newspaper.

As the opening of each revealed its contents, fresh, clean, and inviting, Bridge closed one eye and cocked the other up at Billy.

"Did he die hard?" he inquired.

"Did who die hard?" demanded the other.

"Why, the dog, of course."

"He ain't dead as I know of," replied Billy.

"You don't mean to say, my friend, that they let you get away with all this without sacking the dog on you?" said Bridge.

Billy laughed and explained, and the other was relieved—the

Daily News Letter

General News and Gossip from Staff Writers at Home and Abroad

TODAY—One of the principal pastimes of persons who pen pleas to the President of the United States is for presidential proclamations, according to today's News Letter from Washington by George R. Holmes, correspondent at the national capital.

TOMORROW—Roland Krebs, in his New York letter tomorrow, writes of out-of-town visitors to New York who gaze in wide-eyed admiration at would-be actors who emulate stars of screen and stage, but rarely get a glance at the real luminaries.

For International News Service.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 22.—The great American voter—and frequently does—expresses somewhat cynical disdain for those he (and she) elevates to public office, but he, nevertheless, entertains a profound respect for the power that office wields. This is particularly true of the presidency.

The power wielded by one who sits in the White House undoubtedly is great, but if it were as monumental as literally thousands of Americans believe it to be, the president of the United States would be something like a combination of Mohammed, Solomon, Confucius and Alexander the Great.

The White House mail bags dump an interesting assortment of letters on the president's desk every day. They range from profound dissertations on the Einstein theory clear down to and including letters from 6-year-olds who believe the president of the United States is a cross between the Deity and Santa Claus.

There are always requests for proclamations. President Harding confessed the other day, in talking with callers, that he has been literally amazed at the number of people who believe a presidential proclamation is panacea for all the ills the world is heir to.

There apparently is something in the alliterative ring of the words that make a presidential proclamation sound omnipotent. Consequently when J. Doe notes something is going in a manner that pleases him not he takes his pen in hand and proceeds to ask Mr. Harding to set it right by the issuance of a presidential proclamation.

The ratio of proclamations issued and requested is about 1 to 500, according to the White House.

President Harding has been requested, for instance, to issue a proclamation prohibiting women smoking in public places.

He has been placed for someone's inability to get his beer and asked to proclaim the saloons open at once.

He has been urged to declare war on the Turks for their massacres of Christian Armenians, to give a testimonial for Dr. Blank's Little Liver Pills, to abolish congress, and to set aside existing laws in great numbers—all by presidential proclamation.

All of the requests receive a courteous answer—it keeps a considerable staff busy. But the president sighs occasionally and wishes people would consult the constitution of the United States and its limitations on his power before they deluge him with requests he has no authority to grant.

The senate of the United States has a new senatorial display.

Senator Thomas F. Bayard, democrat of Delaware, who has succeeded T. Coleman du Pont, republican, has produced the first flowing Windsor seen in the senate in years. Nor is it an affection since his coming to the senate, either. The Delaware solon, whose grandfather was

One of the favorites in the republican cloakroom concerns a certain democratic senator from an eastern state who was an avowed and bitter foe of the new tariff bill. He roundly denounced it in the senate and those who voted for it.

This senator made a speaking trip into a western state where there was a democratic senator up for re-election. This state was one of those that will profit greatly by the new tariff on wool, hides and agricultural products.

The democratic senator from this state had voted with the republicans for the bill.

The eastern senator stopped off to "help him out" with a few speeches. Imagine the surprise, chagrin and downright dismay of the western candidate when his eastern colleague in his first speech ripped into the tariff bill, tore it into bloody shreds, and expounded the defeat of "all those greedy interests who have combined to saddle on the American people an increase of $400,000,000 in the annual cost of living."

It was a ringing appeal for the dismissal of public life of all who had voted for "the steal."

The eastern senator had forgotten where he was. His chagrin was only equalled by that of his western friend when he finally realized what had been done.

Fortunately it didn't make any difference, as the candidate was re-elected.

APPARATUS & DEVICES

By RALPH BROWN, RADIO ENGINEER

CONNECTION BLOCK

A most desirable minor accessory for any radio station is the connection block. It is used commonly for connecting one or more headsets in circuit. It is provided with a screw hole in the center for attaching to table, panel or cabinet. Leads may be attached either to screw and nut binding posts or brought into holes in ends, the receiver cord tips being inserted in holes in opposite ends. A series of these blocks may be lined up to make a circuit distribution strip if desired.

RADIO EXPLAINED

BY LIEUT. JOHN R. IRWIN
INSTRUCTOR U. S. AIR SERVICE

EXPLANATION OF RADIO

Radio signals are produced by propagating waves in that peculiar medium known as the ether. These waves are originated by setting up high frequency oscillations radiating from an "antenna" or, as it is also known, an aerial. The antenna oscillations cause waves in the surrounding ether to be radiated into space in all directions at the tremendous speed of 186,000 miles per second, which is the same speed at which light travels.

These ether waves, coming in contact with an antenna at a receiving station, set up in the receiving antenna oscillations which by means of suitable apparatus (hereafter described in this series), are rectified by means of a detector so as to be audible to the human ear, generally by the use of telephones.

By this means the signals of the Morse code or telephonic speech can be carried on.

The force or amplitude of ether waves depends on the energy developed in the antenna circuit. The greater the amplitude of ether waves the further do they travel and the further can they be perceived before their force is spent. But the amplitude of the waves in no way affects their rate of travel nor their frequency.

The speed at which these waves follow each other is termed "wave frequency." Wave frequency depends upon the characteristics of the sending circuit and is controlled by varying the capacity, inductance and resistance. In other words, by varying

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

BY HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S CHRISTMAS NUTS

The Spirit of Happiness was singing all over Woodland where Uncle Wiggily lived in a hollow stump bungalow, with his animal friends all about him. Indeed the Spirit of Happiness seemed inside Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, for the muskrat lady housekeeper hopped about the bungalow humming a jolly song.

"Only a few days more to Christmas, Uncle Wiggily!" sang the Spirit of Happiness inside Nurse Jane.

"That's right!" cried the rabbit gentleman with a funny little twinkle of his pink nose. "Have we everything we need to celebrate Christmas?"

Nurse Jane thought for a moment, and began counting knots that she had tied in her tail.

"My goodness me, sakes alive!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "Why the knots?"

"Why not?" asked Nurse Jane, which was sort of a joke. "I tied the knots in my tail," went on

The Fox held a nut between his paws.

Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy, "so I would remember not to forget the things we have for Christmas and to remember the things we need to get." Then she looked hard at a place in her tail where there was not a knot and she said:

"Oh, we need Christmas nuts, Uncle Wiggily. That's what I want to have for Christmas."

You brought the tree, the holly, the candy and we have our stockings. All we need are some nuts for some of the animal boys and girls to crack when they come home to see us on Christmas morning after Santa Claus has been down the chimneys."

"I'll get the nuts," offered Uncle Wiggily. "The best place to get them is at the home of Johnnie and Billy Bushytail, the squirrels. They are great nut gatherers."

Giving his pink nose another twinkle, Uncle Wiggily hopped over the fields and through the woods until he came to the squirrel tree.

"Good afternoon, Uncle Wiggily!" chattered Mrs. Bushytail, the squirrel lady, when Uncle Wiggily had knocked open the door with the end of his red, white and blue striped rheumatism crutch.

"If you have come to see any of the children they are all out looking in the Christmas windows of the ten and eleven cent store," said Mrs. Bushytail.

"No, I didn't come to see the children, I brought 'em here," answered Mr. Longears. "I came to see if I could get some Christmas nuts. Nurse Jane says they are the only things we lack."

"Yes, we have plenty of nuts this year," answered Mrs. Bushytail. "Johnnie and Billie gathered a great number of them. See, our store house is more than filled."

She showed Uncle Wiggily part of the hollow tree that was brimful and running over with hickory nuts, chestnuts, butternuts and black walnuts.

"Take as many as you wish, Uncle Wiggily," invited Mrs. Bushytail, and she gave the bunny gentleman a birch bark basket filled with all sorts of nuts for Christmas.

Uncle Wiggily thanked the squirrel lady politely and then he started back over the fields and through the woods to his hollow stump bungalow. But the bunny had not gone very far before he began to feel hungry, having come away early that day with only a light breakfast.

"I think I'll stop and eat a few nuts," thought Uncle Wiggily. "I have more than we'll need at Christmas." So, finding a flat rock on which to hold the nuts, and a round stone with which to hammer and crack them, Uncle Wiggily began. If he had been a squirrel or chipmunk, he could have gnawed the shells off the nuts with his teeth, as Johnnie and Billie Bushytail did. But, being a rabbit, his teeth were not made for such hard gnawing.

Uncle Wiggily cracked a few nuts between the stones, and was eating the meats, when, all of a sudden, along came the Fuzzy Fox.

"Ah, ha!" growled the Fox. I am just in time to nibble your ears."

"Oh, please don't nibble my ears now!" begged the bunny.

The size of the condenser unit or the inductance coil. Details of various types of apparatus, such as condensers, etc., will be discussed later and will be alluded to in these preliminary pages only as aids to a general understanding of radio.

A given circuit will produce oscillations at only a certain fixed rate depending on the factors of inductance, etc., just as a pendulum can swing at only a fixed rate, depending upon its length and weight. In ordinary commercial practice the wave frequencies vary from as much as 2,000,000 per second to as little as 1,000,000 per second.

TWO SELFISH MOTHERS

Two letters have come to me in the same mail from young girls who want to be married and whose mothers, both widows, oppose the match.

The daughter in each case has supported her mother for some years and proposes to do her share toward her support in the future, either by offering her a home or by financial contributions.

But of course marriage will mean the break-up of the home which the mother and the girl, and in one case the mother, girl and older sister, share.

And so the mothers bitterly oppose the marriage—for no other reason, each girl declares, than that it means a change in her way of living.

Of course all these facts have been given me from the girls' standpoint. I wish I had a letter from the mothers too. (Perhaps after this is published I shall have one.) I'd like to know what she would say about it all. And then I'd like a letter from an unprejudiced third party giving me the facts as he or she sees them.

Protective Thinking
For even if the mother told me that she was objecting to the match only because she did not think the man was the right man, I should not be sure that that was not protective thinking, a reason with which she tries to camouflage her selfish reason not only to others but to herself.

For these are by no means the only cases of which I have known in which a mother who has had a home with an unmarried daughter has bitterly opposed the latter's marriage for purely selfish reasons. I know of one case where the mother prevented the marriage for years (she had a weak heart and had heart attacks whenever it was mentioned.) Finally when her daughter was over 30 she reluctantly consented but she insisted on being in the foreground in all their plans, and actually went on the honeymoon with them! Now she is doing her best (and it is a very effectual one) to ruin their home. If she succeeds and they part she can say triumphantly that he was not the right man after all.

And then I know of another case where the mother opposed a marriage until the bitter day came when she wished she had allowed it.

Does She Want Them Waiting?
Of course it is hard for the widowed mother who may have made many sacrifices to bring up and educate her children to see them marry, when she would so much prefer to have them for herself the rest of her life.

"I shan't live so very long," she may think to herself. "After all I've done it does seem as they might be willing to wait."

Does she really want them waiting for her to die? And, if she blocks their natural desires, perhaps longing for her to get out of the way of their happiness?

One of the girls who wrote me was brought up by her mother from her babyhood. She pays fine tribute to her mother's courage and self-sacrifice in those years. At 15 she went to work and with her sister supported her mother. She is now 24. Hasn't she earned the right to think of marriage?

The Selfishness of the Middle

The selfishness of the young, pushing everything aside in their struggle toward their own happiness is cruel and unbecoming. But not so unbecoming, I think, as the selfishness of the middle-aged who have lived their lives and are not willing to let their children do the same. Of course any widowed mother has a right to ask that she be looked out for financially. Any decent child will do that as a matter of course. But any decent mother will also do all that she can to be as little burden as possible. And she will not let her selfish desire to keep things in status quo stand in the way of her children's right to normal living.

Diet and Health By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D. Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

I, I, I, MYSELF, I THE HISTORY OF ME BY ME

CHAPTER XXXVIII

Eczema

Last week I told you of baby Alice's eczema and how our Doctor was having her mama leave off certain foods in her diet to see which were causing the trouble. It has been found often that babies' skins are sensitive to certain proteins which are transferred in their mother's milk.

Just now Alice's mama is not eating any eggs. For it has been found that egg protein is often the offending protein. Mamas must find out for themselves which food is causing the irritation unless they can have the protein skin test made on the babies. I told you about that last week.

Mamas whose babies have eczema must eat a large variety but small portions of individual foods, our Doctor says. Irregular feedings and unhygienic habits that babies have forced on them by mamas who are ignorant or are thoughtless, may upset the babies' intestinal tract so that the perfectly good elements of the food are absorbed undigested. And in this way they irritate the skin and all the tissues.

Porter and Carter in their book, "The Management of the Sick Infant," say it is possible that originally eczema on babies may be of local origin due to some external irritant and then the inflammation in the skin produces proteins which are absorbed, and this in turn causes the extension of the eczema.

For the local treatment of Alice's eczema our Doctor is protecting the surface against scratching and infection, and even against air and water. To prevent her scratching she has her little arms in splints. They are the same kind of splints that I wore for a period to prevent my thumb sucking. If you need these little prisons for your babies you can send to my Doctor through this paper for the directions on how to make them.

BEAUTY CHATS

SALADS ARE BEAUTY FOODS

Can you make nice salads? The gray hairs so they will not be so noticeable, three to ten minutes in the summer and even in the winter they cost no more than any good vegetable.

And they save the plainest meal from being ordinary and make it dainty and appetizing. But why stop to praise them? We all know the food value of salads. Here are a few quite simple ones to make that are real beauty foods. For a sluggish system, dull eyes and not quite clear skin, these are excellent.

Orange and Raisin Salad—(For blotchy skin.) Soak large seedless raisins, cut them in halves. Skin oranges and cut them in large slices. Mix orange slices together with the raisins and pile on a large lettuce leaf. Cover with thick mayonnaise. Cook books are full of recipes. If your materials are all cold, you can't help but make good sauce.

Wiltshire Sauce—(This will make you fat.) Take outside leaves of lettuce. When crisp, chop them into small bits—I know you aren't supposed to cut up lettuce leaves but it is done, nevertheless. Put contents in a bowl, add olive oil, half as much vinegar as oil, salt and pepper to taste, a large spoonful of sugar and mix well. When mixed, pour a cupful of thick fresh cream over it all, mix again—it's a delicious pale green salad and I never met it outside southern England.

Stuffed Apple Salad—(For your general good.) You know all about the apple a day and its value. Well, scoop out as much apple as you can, and stuff it with left over fruits and vegetables, mayonnaise—and then eat it.

Mrs. Williams—When using henna for darkening gray streaks, it should be applied hot and allowed to stay on the hair for 30 minutes, or even longer if needed, depending upon the shade you desire. If you are merely tinting

Thanks Given U. S. By Polish Children

CHICAGO—Polish children devote a part of their time in school each week to writing letters to "the kind Americans" who have done so much for them.

That was the report of Mrs. Evelina Belden Paulson, supervisor of the children's aid division of the Red Cross commission to Poland, when she arrived here recently from Poland.

"When we first arrived in Poland we found multitudes of men, women and children barefoot, because there were no shoes," she reported. "Today there are few who do not possess at least some kind of foot covering."

"There were only three trained nurses in all Poland when the Red Cross commission arrived. Now trained nurses—Polish girls—are numbered by the hundreds."

The nurses were trained by American nurses.

Ireland to Revoke Tax on U. S. Cars

DUBLIN—Free State Government intends at the first opportunity to revoke the tax upon automobiles imported from America. For the protection of British manufacturers the British Government imposed a heavy tax upon cars arriving in Great Britain and Ireland under the old regime had to pay the tax, and, of course, in several instances English manufacturers were able to undersell the American car. Ireland has no interest in automobile manufacturing. There isn't a factory in the country. The revoking of the tax is expected to be a boon to Americans, as nowadays most traveling in Ireland is done by auto. Nearly all the railroads are out of commission owing to destruction wrought by the Republicans.

Practical Housekeeping By Florence Austin Chase

CHRISTMAS TABLE DECORATION

Every modern housewife realizes that good food well prepared is enhanced by its proper serving and with appropriate table decorations.

The dining-table, stretched to its full length to accommodate ten to fourteen or more guests is not a very difficult problem to decorate, for there is sufficient space to display one's artistic ability without giving the appearance of being overcrowded. It is the small table, seating four or five that presents the greatest problem and therefore requires a good deal of study to obtain the desired effect.

Too often when "table decorations" are spoken of we think of the flowers, ferns, vines, ribbons and candlesticks, forgetting that the china, silver and glass, to say nothing of the food, play a large part in creating harmonious table decorations.

Table Decoration Suggestions—Tables Seating Five
Table No. 1—Has centerpiece of Wedgewood vase six inches high, holding red carnations; massed about its base and point down between each cover is holly with its bright red berries. Cut-glass candle holder to harmonize with the goblets and cocktail glasses. The china is white with deep cream border and gold bands. The place cards are in the form of tiny reindeer bearing the cards.

This centerpiece adds the necessary warmth to introduce the Yuletide spirit and is very attractive, though simple.
Table No. 2—The colors throughout are white and gold, relieved by the green of the mistletoe and the soft coloring of the fruit.

Center piece of silver fruit dish, in Empire style, filled with pears, peaches, white and blue grapes. Two silver candlesticks, placed close to pattern, white and gold. Sprays of lilies of the valley placed to run gracefully from fruit dish toward the covers.

Table No. 3—Centerpiece of cut-glass pendant vase filled with American Beauty roses with a flat decoration of asparagus fern and holly berries arranged around its base. Four silver candlesticks, having white candles with rose lined shades, are placed equidistant about the vase. China in gold and white. Name place cards fastened to tiny candlesticks decorated with spray of holly.

Table No. 4—A Christmas table such as is in thousands of American homes is that which has for its centerpiece a candle-brum holding white candles, and massed about its base is bayberry and holly. China decorated in gold and royal blue. The favors are blue hand-painted candlesticks holding bayberry candles.

Table No. 5—Centerpiece gold and white bowl pottery (to simulate basket), filled with varicolored berries of the mountain ash, with cluster of mistletoe and holly suspended from chandelier directly over it. Four crystal and gold candlesticks, having rose lined shades, are placed around the bowl. Serving plates, salad

PLANS FOR NEW TRIAL
SEATTLE, Dec. 22.—Appeal for a new trial will be made by C. E. West, former mayor of Auburn, Wash., convicted in Superior court of malicious prosecution of Sheriff Matt Starwich. West caused the arrest of Starwich twice during the latter's campaign for re-election in October on charges of obtaining citizenship falsely.

Just the wholesome appreciation of the women of Glendale for our type of beauty work.

We've been earnest and thorough in our work, surely, or our patronage would not be so steadily increasing.

Then, too, perhaps, 18 years of Marinello beauty practice has helped our work bring results.

The Sport Crucible

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—John McGraw of New York and William F. Baker of Philadelphia may be about to exchange gifts of holiday cheer, it was learned today. It is said that John has made the first advance in the proffer of a ball player or two and that William has several tied up in tasty red ribbons and tissue paper. It is said that the exchange may have been effected already and that only the delicate tact of the gentlemen in question has thwarted an official announcement.

The only difference between John and William and other Yuletide friends is that no element of surprise is involved in the exchange. Candid souls both, they have informed each other of what they want in advance.

John tried to interest Garry Herrman of Cincinnati in a similar enterprise some days ago and went so far as to signify his preference for Adolfo Luque, the all-Havana filler. Our Mr. Tierney denied this, but that is of no moment. Mr. Tierney would deny that Siki is a brunette.

John has informed William he wants a nice new pitcher, preferably Lee Meadows or Jimmy Ring. Just what he will give in return has not been made known, but it is understood that John has offered Jess Barnes and Ralph Shimmers, the $40,000 outfielder, who now sells at the waiver price.

SPORTS CHATTER

By BILL UNMACK
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

In these days when minor league baseball players are being sold for $75,000 and $100,000 to the major league clubs it is somewhat startling to look back into old baseball records and newspapers and find this head:

"Ed Deleahanty sold for record sum"—"Philadelphia pays $1,900."

Deleahanty is a name that lives in baseball today and in his time he was just as great an attraction as the Babe Ruths, the Ty Cobb and others of today. He was sold by the Wheeling Club of the Tri-State League to the Philadelphia Nationals for $1,900, a sum at that time which constituted the greatest price paid to a minor league player.

Another star of the same period was Al Orth, a pitcher of the Lynchburg team in the Virginia League. In August, 1935, the Philadelphia team purchased him for $1,000. Our old friend Billy Sunday was another man who was put on the auction block and in 1890 he was sold by Pittsburgh to the Philadelphia team for $1,000 and several players.

Today John McGraw of the New York Giants is one of the most liberal buyers of minor league talent. His purchase early in 1922 of Johnny O'Connell of the San Francisco team for $75,000 established a high price mark for a minor player and shades into insignificance the "princely" sum of $1,900 paid in 1887 for Deleahanty. McGraw himself was a purchased player when back in 1900 the St. Louis team purchased him from the Baltimore club together with Wilbert Robinson and Bill Keister for $15,000 or an average of only $5,000 for each of these men. McGraw and Robinson today being two of the most famed managers in the game.

As an example of the "enormous" prices paid for ball players of other days here are a few purchase prices paid for stars of those days:

1887, Ed Deleahanty, Wheeling club, sold to Philadelphia for $1,900.

1887, Mike Kelly, Chicago to Boston, $10,000.

1888, Pitcher Clarkson, Chicago to Boston, $10,000.

1890, P. Deleahanty, Pittsburgh to Philadelphia, $1,000 and players.

1895, Al Orth, Lynchburg to Philadelphia, $1,000.

1896, Napoleon Lajoie and Phil Geier, Fall River to Philadelphia for $1,200.

1897, Catcher Tom Tucker, Boston to Washington, $2,000.

1900, McGraw, Robinson, Keister, Baltimore to St. Louis for $15,000.

1901, Hughie Jennings, Brooklyn to Philadelphia, $2,000.

This list gives a fair idea of the way trade values of players have grown in the past years. The figures quoted are taken from official lists.

If a minor league star sells to the majors today for $100,000, as in the case of Kamm of San Francisco to Chicago the fan has a nice mathematical deduction to figure out in this case. If John McGraw was for sale what is his present day value?

The World Over

By FRANKLIN B. MORSE
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

The Pacific coast seems to be fairly well agreed that it likes an interseasonal post season football game of dimensions, and President Barrows of the University of California is the latest to set his stamp of approval on these affairs.

The big stumblingblock, however, seems to be the matter of getting the two "representative" teams, East and West, on the gridiron together. There will be two post season international or East vs. West games played on the Pacific coast within the next couple of weeks, but of the two Eastern teams and the two Western teams to play, not one may be said to be fairly representative.

that he will compete in the East next year under ordinary circumstances, followers of the cinder path might congratulate themselves in the East that they will see this great sprinter in action. But Paddock's is not an ordinary case.

Few track men have shown themselves more temperamental and unreliable than Paddock, and there is, under the circumstances, no assurance that he will even compete again, even on the Pacific coast. This is the way a lot of persons feel and shows the lack of faith they now place on anything this athlete may say. It is not an enviable reputation but Paddock has fairly earned it.

The University of California is by all odds the representative team of the Far West. Princeton, and then Cornell, are so considered in the East. There was no chance to get any of these in the field, so it became merely the matter of a "Hobson's" choice.

And this is just what is likely to happen every year—to merely get the best possible teams together, and this very fact robs the event of the glamor and interest that might surround it if the genuine champions of each section of the country could be brought together.

Charley Paddock, the world's amateur sprint champion, says

Fortunate New York!

They have a rule there that persons of "advanced" age must not be permitted to enter the ring for prize competition. This permits the Gothamite to go about his business without having to worry about having a Dempsey-Willard return match foisted on him. We look to see a similar regulation passed in other municipalities.

Danny Kramer Is Winner Over Wing

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 22.—Danny Kramer, the Los Angeles southpaw entrant in the Portland featherweight tournament, won all the way in a ten-round bout against Weldon Wing, local featherweight, last night.

Wing was given the worst beating he ever took in a Portland ring. Kramer's short but powerful left knocked Wing down for the count of nine in the second and eighth rounds. Wing, punch groggy, struggled to his feet and continued the match gamely.

Kramer showed himself to be a real gentleman by pleading to the referee to stop the bout after the second near-knockout. Referee Gruman declined and Kramer showed up without further punishing the game, but staggering Wing.

George Burns beat Kid Herman in a six-round, semi-windup bout. Jack Griffin and Richie Ravis boxed a six-round draw. Chuck Hellman and Bill Ryan fought a draw in one of the four-rounders and Benny Dotson won over young Tom Ross in the other.

Kramer showed himself to be a real gentleman by pleading to the referee to stop the bout after the second near-knockout. Referee Gruman declined and Kramer showed up without further punishing the game, but staggering Wing.

Church Will Give Xmas Party Tonight

Christmas will be celebrated by the First Presbyterian Sunday school at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the church, with Superintendents H. L. Finlay and Mrs. Roy D. King in charge. There will be a Christmas tree, and a very fine program will be given by the various classes.

The juniors will present a pageant, "The Armenian Child's Christmas Dream." The Sunday school orchestra will render several numbers. A chorus of young people will sing. The tiny tots will appear as "Cradle Roll Butterflies" and "Grandmother's Daisies." Miss Winnie Sinclair and Charles Sawhill will give readings.

Rev. W. E. Edmonds will talk on "The Spirit of Christmas" and "Our Gifts." Mrs. J. M. Eyerick will give a reading. The offering will be devoted to Near East Relief work. The closing event, which will have a special significance for the children, will be "The unbuilding of the fire-places."

Arbuckle Ready to Meet His Opponents

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 22.—Taking notice of the storm of adverse criticism locally and throughout the country to the ruling of Will Hays, "boss" of the movies, in allowing Roscoe Arbuckle, film star, the right to work again at his profession, Joseph M. Schenck, Arbuckle's friend, who will employ him, said today Arbuckle was ready to meet his opponents anytime and at any place they would name.

"Roscoe Arbuckle is ready to meet and argue with anyone who objects to his return to the screen," said Schenck. "Both he and myself for those who object to seeing his pictures being shown. He is willing to meet them individually or collectively any time at any designated place and meet the reasons for their opposition to him."

"Mr. Arbuckle is my friend. The money that can be made through his pictures means nothing to me. Perhaps he has been indiscreet, but he has proved by his actions since his trouble and mode of living that he is entitled to a chance to work at his chosen profession. Mr. Hays gave him that chance. I hope that persons who object to his return to the screen will take advantage of the fact that Mr. Arbuckle is ready and willing to answer as many questions as they see fit to ask."

Meanwhile local ministers continue their drive against the actor, appealing to Mayor Cryer against giving the fat comedian another chance.

'Hammer' Bandits Kill Palo Alto Man

SAN JOSE, Calif., Dec. 22.—Police throughout the Santa Clara valley today sought the "hammer" bandits, who last night beat Walter R. Dowdy, Palo Alto garage owner, to death.

At the same time Harry Allen of Redwood City was being held for further questioning. Allen was riding with Dowdy when the alleged holdup occurred on the Mission-San Jose road. They were returning from Tracey.

Late last night Allen, in an excited condition, drove Dowdy's car to the police station here and brought in the tonneau of the car Dowdy's body.

Dowdy had been slain by powerful blows on the top and back of his head. According to police who examined the body it appeared as though the blows might have been delivered by the butt of a heavy .45-calibre revolver or an unusually heavy hammer. The back of his head was literally beaten to a pulp, while on the top of his head was one wound which probably would have caused death.

Six Bandits Hold Up Truck, Steal $5000

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 22.—Six bandits armed with sawed off shotguns held up a money truck of the Stix, Baer and Fuller company here today, compelling two employees and a policeman to turn over to them approximately $5,000 in cash.

U. S. May Summon Economic Conference

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—Proposals to launch the United States on a new bid for world leadership by the calling of world conferences on armament and economics held the spotlight in the senate today when the naval appropriation bill came up for consideration.

Considerable senatorial approval followed in the wake of a proposal made by Senator Borah, Republican of Idaho, leader of the "irreconcilables" during the League of Nations fight, for an economic conference to suggest a remedy for stricken world commerce, with further limitations on aircraft and submarines.

A second proposal, for a new arms conference only, was a part of the naval bill while Senator King, Democrat of Utah, suggested an even broader conference of all recognized nations on world problems.

Senatorial leaders announced the ship subsidy bill would be laid aside today for debate of the naval bill and the proposed conferences. There was little hope consideration of the measure would be resumed before the New Year as adjournment will be taken late today until tomorrow when, after a short session, a Christmas recess will be taken until next Wednesday.

Resumption of debate on the proposed conferences, it was predicted, would occupy the senate the remainder of next week. This schedule will not only delay action on the ship subsidy, but will prevent consideration of proposed farm credit legislation until the New Year.

Church Destruction Blamed on K. K. K.

QUEBEC, Que., Dec. 22.—Fire inspired by Ku Klux Klan propaganda or religious mania was responsible for the destruction of the magnificent Basilica, Quebec's proudest church structure, and other buildings in a fire which swept the city early today, according to Chief Detective Dan Lorrain of Quebec. Lorrain told newspapermen he had received a threatening anonymous letter saying the Basilica would be burned December 28.

Denver Desperadoes Believed Cornered

DENVER, Dec. 22.—After a thrilling all-night man hunt when posses of sheriffs and Denver police several times came tantalizingly close to their quarry, four men believed to be the desperadoes who robbed a federal reserve bank truck of $200,000 and fatally wounded a guard in front of the United States mint here Monday, are still at large this morning, somewhere in the wilds of northern Colorado.

The bandit suspects were last reported near Roggen, Colorado, thirty-five miles southeast of Greeley, and it is here that reinforcements will join the hunt today. All officers in southern Wyoming and western Nebraska have been put on the lookout in an attempt to hem in the suspects.

The night-long chase was the result of the most tangible clue authorities had found in ninety-six hours searching. Dr. J. F. Raegua found men answering the description of the Denver bandits when he visited his untenanted farm house, eight miles northeast of Greeley, late Thursday afternoon. He tipped off Sheriff Frank Hall of Weld county who called for help from Denver, but before they arrived, the suspects pushed through the trap and were speeding eastward, picking little used roads.

Herrin Mine Riots Defense Loses Point

MARION, Ill., Dec. 22.—The defense of the five men indicted for the murder of Howard Hoffman on June 22, during the Herrin mine riots, lost its first skirmish today, when Judge Dwight Hartwell overruled and denied motions to strike from the records and exclude evidence given by some of the state's most important witnesses. The motions, however, were formal, and the defense attorneys had slight hope they would be granted.

You can buy it in Glendale.

landed several times near where the bodies are said to have been seen and had they been there the wrecked plane would have been sighted. So far army officials have been unable to confirm the story told by the Indian. No one could be found here today who had actually heard the Indian's story first hand. Every effort was being made today to confirm the story that the remains of the flyers had been found, or prove it untrue.

ONE KILLED, ONE WOUNDED IN MYSTERY SHOOTING
STUEBENVILLE, O., Dec. 22.—Roy Ledson, 35, prominent coal operator of Mount Horeb, Cook county, West Virginia, was shot and instantly killed here this morning, and his brother, William Ledson, was fatally wounded, by William Pearson, a neighbor, officials say. The shooting occurred in the Ledson barn. The cause of the shooting is a mystery.

CLARA FAILED TO LEAVE FORWARDING ADDRESS
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 22.—Sheriff Traeger had a real job wished on him today when a Christmas card arrived at his office addressed to Mrs. Clara Phillips. In a corner of the envelope were the words: "Please forward." "She didn't leave any forwarding address," said the sheriff, "but if I see her I'll be glad to give her the card." The card was mailed at Harney Station, Omaha, Neb., and was signed by Vincent O'Donnell and Lee Armstrong.

L. A. MAYOR OBJECTS TO ARBUCKLE'S RETURN
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 22.—A vigorous protest against the return of Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle to the films was sent to Will Hays, "boss" of motion pictures, by Mayor Cryer today. The mayor dispatched the following telegram to Hays aboard the California Limited at Newton, Kansas: "Am informed you contemplate returning Roscoe Arbuckle to films. I believe showing of pictures featuring Arbuckle would be a violation of spirit of our ordinance governing motion picture exhibitions and offensive to public morals. Such exhibitions taken in connection with wide publicity given distracting details of the case of People vs. Arbuckle would have direct tendency to contribute to the delinquency of youth of this city. Public sentiment is strongly opposed. Hope you will reconsider decision." The mayor's telegram was the result of a visit to his office yesterday by six prominent Los Angeles ministers who requested him to take action protesting against the reinstatement of Arbuckle. They urged the mayor to send his protest to Hays.

Murder of Girl Is Related by Witness

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 22.—The startling story of Mrs. Helen Leary, self-styled witness of an alleged murder of a 5-year-old girl, by Cash Weir, aged riverman, still baffles police.

Six have been arrested but authorities today are uncertain whether the alleged boathouse murder is the fanciful revenge of a woman or the true recital of a brutal crime. Earl Weir, sweetheart of the Mrs. Leary, was arrested last night in Rainier, Ore., and denied he had aided his father in disposing of the body of the girl. He admitted being in love at one time with Mrs. Leary, but stated the affair ended when his father informed him she was a woman of questionable character. The elder Weir maintains the story was fashioned by revenge.

Jap Sunday School To Have Xmas Fete

The Japanese Sunday school, conducted by the Union of nine Glendale churches, will hold its Christmas exercises Sunday afternoon, December 24, at 2:30 o'clock, in the Tropic Presbyterian church, announces Julius Sooper, in charge of this movement.

Mrs. A. W. Van Loon, superintendent, will supervise the program, which will consist of one or two addresses, followed by recitations and singing by the children, with contributions of gifts and candy by Santa Claus to these boys and girls, at the close.

It is very much desired that there be present a good number of friends from each of the nine participating churches back of this class, as this will be the one best time of the year to see what actually is being done and to observe how much the Japanese really appreciate the work.

THEATRES

The Glendale

The popular juvenile star, Cullen Landis, is seen today in a delightful role at the Glendale Theatre. The film is "Watch Your Step," written by Julian Josephson, author of all the famous Charles Ray successes, directed by William Beaudine, who has turned out many a screaming Christie comedy, and released by Goldwyn, the organization of many great pictures. This is a combination that means an evening of sure-fire entertainment.

"Watch Your Step" deals with youth, and youth's point of view. The result is a delightful, rollicking, utterly human and natural screen version of natural life.

In the supporting cast are Patsy Ruth Miller, Bert Woodruff and other celebrated names.

The T. D. & L.

The Rodolph Valentino film, "The Young Rajah," now showing at the T. D. & L. Theatre, is an adaptation from the famous novel "Amos Judd," and tells the story of an East Indian prince left mysteriously, as a child, with an old New England couple, and reared by them. Amos, the unknowing prince, grows up and goes to Harvard, where he becomes a crew hero and pulls the winning oar against Yale, at the same time losing his heart to pretty Molly Cabot.

In the midst of their romance Amos is kidnapped and taken back to India, where he quells a revolution, comes into his heritage of a throne and—well, the picture ends happily and satisfyingly, and the finale is too good to give away.
